COMMUNITY NEWS / ANN ARBOR

Olivia Wilder Talks With WEMU About Grief Support

WEMU | April 13, 2026 | Radio interview

Coverage summary by Ele’s Place

On Washtenaw United, David Fair spoke with Ele’s Place bereavement coordinator Olivia Wilder about what children, teens and caregivers can expect from peer grief support. Wilder explained that families reach out at different times after someone dies.

The interview also explored what children can choose to do during a group evening, the role of trained volunteers and staff, and the separate groups available to parents and guardians. WEMU’s source page includes the conversation.

Original title: Washtenaw United: Ele’s Place supports young people and families navigating grief

Open the original source